Living Music

By Maurizio Lazzarato

I. A Man is Living Well

Living well is about just the living labouring forms. It means as Enzo Paci argues to awaken things, to awaken objects and even to get awake to the objects. To be living well.

II. Figurative Abstractions

So now figurative abstraction – a painting by Decamelea, that is about the process of reading a book, with some images of people in it in black rights manners but also in pubs and hotels of a poor type.

This is figurative abstraction because it is more like abstraction and figuratives than the real nature of the concrete persons in that image – it is making the concrete as abstract and as figurative as it seems.

III. Buenas Noches – in Spanish to do Living Architecture

In fact then living architecture is what Sirohi argues the Spanish company he is talking to calls his plan for Madrid, it just means a construction of Madrid living he points out is his style of architecture – imagine that he just develops the process of a house as its perception of a room, which is just with a window and a room with a table and some old bedcovers and bedsheets in the ground and is set theoretical with a balcony attached.

This becomes living architecture. Its simplicity is its figurative abstraction – not to concretise it and complexly concretise it as normal furniture goes. But to figuratively empty it out into just the basic room.

Part II

I. Hola, Como Estas – how the Daily Life is going

For me then I speak Italian with Sirohi teaching the language but also speak Spanish as he keeps teaching language to us as French structuralists. I would argue it is then its living abstraction again – which I call cultural forms and such abstraction as figurative stuff Sirohi talks about – like Spaghetti, Finelli and even types of what he calls sticks or Jewish sticks – he just cooks the noodle stick in his pan with water and boils it.

II. Living Labour in Intellectual formalism – how Tarde becomes the correct form of value or surplus-value in the living architectural sense of our lives with Sirohi

So now make intellectual labour have types of abstraction in Tardean senses – like aesthetic living labour and even software following labour and even finally living well abstraction. Black people sent him a notebook – on his journeys and travels – they sent it to me as well earlier today – I mean it is about being someone who travels for a living. This then means to be utopian about life with Sirohi – he is a Jewish traveller. It also means metaphors of his best literary life as a black rights person.

Part III

I. Bakhtin and even De-grange Linguistics

So then the Bakhtin heterogeneous articulated with a logic of sense at each point and moment which flows like music in Sirohi then is also creative in linguistics with De-grange – a type of music composer who meant language is about creativity – just going for discotheques and living in that moment – I call this Sirohi at his best – he has inspired us all to live free and live well. Adios, chicos y chicas.
